TEN-PERCENTER CONTRACTS VOID

Justice Kelly Hands Down a Decision of Great Interest to Hundreds of Ashokan Claimants.

A case of much interest to Ashokan claimants has just been decided by Supreme Court Justice Kelly in Kings county. In an action brought by the United States Title Guaranty Company against Arthur A. Brown.

The action was for an accounting. The company and Mr. Brown both claimed certain moneys. Justice Kelly holds that Mr. Brown is not entitled to the moneys in dispute, but must pay them to the Title Guaranty Company, but he holds further that that company is not entitled to the moneys, which rightfully belong to the Ashokan claimants, who have not up to this time made any demand on the company.

The case is reported in The New York Law Journal, which gives a statement of the case as follows:

Facts of the Case.

The action is for an accounting. The plaintiff, a corporation, prior to the year 1910, entered into more than 350 contracts with various owners of real property situated in the counties of Greene, Ulster, Schoharie and Delaware, wherein and whereby this plaintiff agreed with the said owners to take whatever proceedings are necessary to represent the said owners, for the purpose of obtaining an award or compensation for the taking or sale of said property, or any part thereof, and acquired or to be acquired by the City of New York for the use of its water supply, and agreed with the said owners to receive in payment of such services a percentage of any award or compensation or of any consideration obtained for said property, which said fee was to be paid when the compensation became payable to the owner. The plaintiff herein agreed to pay all necessary expenses in the prosecution of said claim, but to become entitled to any allowance made for said expenses by the court.

On July 22, 1910, the plaintiff entered into an agreement in writing with the defendant, whereby it employed him to appear as attorney of record for the various property owners with whom the plaintiff had contracts. The plaintiff, in consideration of the defendant's agreement to appear as attorney for the taking of their property by the City of New York, By the terms of this contract the defendant was to receive for his services whatever allowances were made for counsel fees and costs by the condemnation commissioners and the defendant was required to collect for the plaintiff such percentage of the award as its contract with the property owners provided for, and further required that the defendant pay all the expenses proper and necessary for the preparation for trial, the trial of said proceedings and the collection of awards, and including expenses for witnesses. The defendant was also required to file with the proper offices a notice of his lien as attorney for the property owners for the amount due for legal services in connection therewith and not to cancel said lien until the plaintiff company's fees were paid.

Differences having arisen between the parties, this action was brought. The defense was that the contracts were illegal and void at the common law and were in violation of the Penal Law (Section 280.)

Justice Kelly's Opinion.

Justice Kelly's opinion in the case is as follows:

It is impossible to read the agreement between the plaintiff and defendant in connection with the property owner without reaching the conclusion that the plaintiff corporation endeavored to practice law in contravention of public policy and also the prohibition of Section 280 of the Penal Law in force at the time the contracts were made (Matter of Co-operative Co., 198 N. Y., 479; Matter of City of N. Y., Bowsky, 144 App. Div. 107; Matter of City of N. Y., Murphy, 146 App. Div., 125.) If there were any doubt as to what the agreement meant, it is removed by the plaintiff's own construction of its rights under the contract with defendant as set forth in the complaint and in its application for a temporary injunction in this action (U. S. Guaranty Co. vs. Brown, 153, Div., 542.) Much might be written upon the subject, but it is unnecessary.

Company's Agreements With Owners

Flagrant Violations of Law, Says Judge Kelly.

The profession of the law, one of the oldest known to civilization, involving the most sacred confidence between man and man, with its past of high ideals and service to humanity, has in the last quarter of a century suffered much from the inroads of the new financial and business methods in this great land of ours. Whether by ill-advised attempts by corporate employers to dominate and direct attorneys, whether by so-called title companies or casually insurance corporations, the old ideals in the relation of attorney and client, which meant so much to mankind, have suffered and have been threatened with demoralization. This is wrong. The loss of the individual personal relation involved in the attempt by corporations to

AMERICAN COUNTESS AMERICAN'S BRIDE.

Mrs. Edwar Wilson.

Paris, July 7.—Just as a means of letting her friends know she has fulfilled her vow of taking an American as her third husband, the Countess de Bois Lucy, who was Miss Julia O'Neill of New Orleans, here with her latest husband, Edwar Wilson, of New York, to whom she was recently married, she has been photographed in a beautiful American wedding dress.

Paris, July 7.—Just as a means of letting her friends know she has fulfilled her vow of taking an American as her third husband, the Countess de Bois Lucy, who was Miss Julia O'Neill of New Orleans, here with her latest husband, Edwar Wilson, of New York, to whom she was recently married, she has been photographed in a beautiful American wedding dress.

practice law is so serious to the community that it is against public policy, and I am inclined to think it is no question that in this state it is unlawful by force of the statute. The agreement of the plaintiff and defendant and the plaintiff's agreement with the property owners seem to me to be flagrant violations of the law, and before a court of equity no skillfully framed wording or a corporate charter can be allowed to cover the wrong or to make them legal.

Agreements Void; Owners Have Not Demanded Return of Money From the Company.

But while it may be argued that the parties are in pari delicto and that therefore a court of equity will not trouble itself with their disputes, I cannot feel that the defendant, an attorney of the court, should be allowed to retain in his possession moneys concededly belonging to the plaintiff (Irwin v. Currie, 171 N. Y., 409; Bernhardt v. Fromme, 132 App. Div., 922; Duval v. Wellman, 124 N. Y., 156.) It appears from the contract between plaintiff and defendant that the plaintiff advanced a substantial sum of money for witness fees and expenses, which defendant promised to return when collected from the city under the final order. And therefore it would be contrary to good conscience for the court to allow one of its attorneys to retain this money, and the defendant must account for it and pay it back. I have had more trouble with the plaintiff's claim that the defendant had collected and has in his possession money which belongs to plaintiff as its percentage under its agreement with the property owners. I think these agreements with the property owners are void, but I do not see how that justifies defendant in retaining the money. It does not belong to him. The property owners, so far as appears, have not demanded its return by defendant; they voluntarily paid it, or offered no objection to his collecting it. His own fees and compensation are fixed by his agreement with plaintiff, which, although it may be void, still furnishes us with a basis for determining the quantum meruit. It is what he was willing to take for his services. It seems to me he should also pay that money to the plaintiff, if such payment can be made so as to protect him from demand by the property owners. I do not know that they could assert any claim against defendant. As to this branch of the case I would be glad to hear counsel further or receive suggestions from them as to the appropriate findings and judgment.

Rights of Owners to Call Company to Account.

But as to the agreements between plaintiff and the property owners and the defendant, they are unlawful. Unlawful as to defendant, and he repudiates them. Unlawful for the part of the plaintiff and the

SUDDEN DEATH OF ISAAC M. NORTH

Isaac M. North, superintendent of the Cornell Steamboat Company, and one of the best known residents of Ulster county, died at 11:30 o'clock Monday night at his home, No. 106 West Chestnut street, aged 75 years. He had been in unusually good health until Monday morning, when he was taken with an attack of acute indigestion and complained of severe pains around his heart. In the evening he was somewhat relieved but said over the telephone at 7 o'clock that he felt that he would never entirely recover. A few hours later he was dead.

Mr. North was a son of Albert North and was born in the town of Olive on August 2, 1839. He lived in his native place until 15 years of age, when he went to Shokan and clerked in one of the stores there. Later he was employed by General Sampson as bookkeeper. Coming to Rondout in 1862, he was employed by the late Thomas Cornell as bookkeeper. At the time Joseph Cornell left the position as superintendent of the Cornell Steamboat Company, Mr. North succeeded him and had continued there until the present day. He was widely known along the Hudson river and in steamboat circles his judgment was never questioned.

Soon after coming to Rondout Mr. North took an active interest in all that concerned the welfare of the town and city and was foremost in doing all in his power to advance the interest of the community. He had served as trustee of the Rondout Savings Bank and since the death of S. D. Coykendall had been its president. He was also a director of the First National Bank, the Ulster & Delaware railroad and of the Cornell Steamboat Company. Mr. North was a member of Trinity M. E. Church and a member of the official board.

In 1863 Mr. North married Miss Ella DuBois, daughter of Peter DuBois, at Olive. Mrs. North survives her husband, besides two children, Anna, wife of Judge John G. Van Etten, and Hazel, wife of James Elgar, of White Plains. Mr. North was a staunch Republican and served as an alderman for fifteen years.

Mr. North had a host of friends in this city who will regret to learn of his death. Of striking traits of character, he made many friends and his scrupulous integrity made him a respected and in all circles. His death removes one of the solid men

CHINESE BRIGANDS BESIEGE A CITY

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Shanghai, July 7.—"White Wolfe," the notorious Chinese brigande with a horde of 10,000 well armed outlaws have encamped upon the outskirts of the city of Sianfu and the inhabitants are fleeing in panic. Dispatches from Sianfu today said that fears prevail that the brigands will seize and pillage the city. Sianfu lies upon a railway in Shensi province. It has a population of 1,000,000 and since the twelfth century B. C., has been an important trade center. For 2,000 years it was the capital of Eastern China.

MURDER REVIVES MAD AXMAN TALES

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Chicago, July 7.—That the mad axman whose trail of tragedy runs through five states, had left his mark on the outskirts of Chicago, was the belief today by First Deputy Chief of Police Schuettler as a result of the quadruple murder in Blue Island, a suburb, of Jacob Mislich, his wife, their daughter and her infant, who were found in bed with their skulls crushed. In the murders the assistant chief sees the pitiless hand of the degenerate slayer sought by the police of the county for thirty-three similar crimes.

A bloody ax which had been taken from the yard of a neighbor and left in a bed-room of the Mislich home is the only clue thus far discovered by the authorities. The police today pointed out the fact that the details of almost all of the murders are similar and in most cases the murderer's axe has wiped out entire families.

Thirty-three persons have been murdered in the past three years by blows from an axe in Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, Iowa and Illinois. The details of the crimes in practically every instance are the same. A list of the "axe murders" follows: H. C. Wayne, wife and child, Rollin Hudson and wife, Paola, Kansas, June 1912.

William E. Dawson, wife and daughter, Monmouth, Illinois, October 1911.

Mrs. Mary Wilson and Mrs. George Moore, Columbia, Mo., December 1912.

William Showman, wife and three children, Ellsworth, Kas., October 1911.

J. B. Moore, four children and two girl guests, Villisca, Iowa, June 1912.

Mrs. Bernhart, her son and two helpers, near Martin City, Kansas, in 1911.

Jacob Mislich, his wife, their daughter and the latter's infant, Chicago, July 6, 1914.

Alcocker Succeeds Moheno.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Mexico City, July 7.—The appointment of Senor Alcocker, minister of Gobernacion, to the portfolio of commerce and industry, which was resigned by Querido Moheno, was announced today. This announcement was followed by news that Querido had decided to reopen the mines at Elere, Blanca, Santa Gertrudis and San Rafael. This action indicates a belief that the constitutional campaign against Mexico City and its environs will be long delayed. Some government officials are so optimistic as to assert that the breach between Generals Carranza and Villa will result in a complete collapse of the revolution.

Anarchist Plot Discovered.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Paris, July 7.—That anarchists have inaugurated a policy of extermination aimed at all European sovereigns was the belief expressed by the police today after they had captured two terrorists at Beaumont-Sun-Oise. Both of these men had bombs in their possession and they confessed that they intended to kill Emperor Nicholas of Russia. From admissions made by one of this prisoners, it was learned that the anarchists have also decreed the death of King Alfonso of Spain and Emperor William of Germany.

Injured in Auto Accident.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Olean, N. Y., July 7.—Louis Voorhees was probably fatally hurt and Hazel Silk seriously injured when the former's automobile overturned as they were driving from Cuba to Olean early today. The girl left her unconscious companion and started to walk four miles for aid although she had a deep wound in her hip. She had walked a mile when she was picked up by a passing automobile. Both Voorhees and the girl were brought to their homes here.

No Yacht Races Today.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Newport, R. I., July 7.—Owing to the inclement weather the first official trial race between the cup defending yachts Resolute, Vanitie and Defiance was called off by the regatta committee this morning. The yachts will try to race again tomorrow.

CARBOLIC ACID KILLED HAAS

After a stormy career for the past few days, Herman Haas of West Union street committed suicide Monday night, but his body was not found until this morning. Carbolic acid was the method used by Haas in shuffling off this mortal coil. Within a few days he had been twice arrested for creating a disturbance and assaulting his wife at his home and the first time got off with a sentence of ten days in jail. No sooner was he out of jail than he renewed his tactics with the result that he was again arrested. Monday he was given seventy days in jail but promised to leave town when the recorder would let him off. This was agreed to by Recorder Grogan and Haas made preparations for suiking the dust of Kingston from his feet. During the day Haas must have changed his mind as the police were informed during the evening that he again appeared on Union street in an intoxicated condition and raised a disturbance. Later he left. This morning about 10 o'clock Elmer Carson, one of the men Brown and white striped galatea is here combined with brown gingham. The blouse fronts open over a vest. The shaped cuffs form a neat finish for the sleeve in either length. The tunic may be omitted. The skirt is a two piece model, and may be joined to a lining underbody, or finished with a band. The design is good for volle, crepe, chambray, tub silk or linen. The pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. It requires 3 1/2 yards of 44 inch material for a 12 year size.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in silver or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Toy Revolver.

A revolver which has been designed for the nervous woman to carry in her vanity bag is probably the smallest weapon of its kind in the world. From the tip of the hammer to end of the barrel it measures about three inches, and it fires a steel bullet about twice the size of a pin's head. The weapon, which is the latest production of a leading gunmaker, is beautifully made, with mother-o'-pearl mountings.

In every State of the Union you'll find Fords outnumbering any other car three to one. And there's a reason aside from the purchasing price. They do the job—they run all the time—they get you there—and-back at half the cost of the steam-engine type.

$525 for the runabout; $575 for the touring car and $775 for the town car—f. o. b. Kingston, N. Y., complete with equipment. Get catalog and particulars from James Millard & Son Co., Kingston, N. Y.

WOMEN TO ATTEND FIGHT IN LONDON

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

London, July 7.—An unprecedented crowd of 20,000 persons, among them men and women of every rank from court circles to street sweepers, will attend the championship fight between Willie Ritchie, holder of the lightweight title, and Freddy Welsh at the Olympia Stadium tonight.

Welsh was a slight favorite in the betting today, being on the long end of 5 to 4 wagers, but numerous bets were made at even money.

This is the first time that the lightweight crown has been fought for in England since George ("Kid") Lavigne beat Dick Burke in seventeen rounds 18 years ago. For nearly a score of years English lightweights have sought to bring back the lightweight laurels to Great Britain.

Frank Erne took the belt from Lavigne and Erne lost it to Joe Gans, the clever American negro. "Batting" Nelson, one of the gamiest fighters the ring has ever known, captured the crown from Gans and met all comers in many hard fought ring battles until he was beaten by Ad Volgaist. Volgaist lost to Ritchie on November 28, 1912. In the year previous Ritchie had lost a 20 round bout to Welsh in California and it has ranked in the little American's breast ever since. That is why every one has said this will be a "grudge fight" so far as Ritchie is concerned. All England is fight mad. The London papers were filled today with stories of the career and condition of the two little gladiators. London is crowded with American tourists at present. Many Yankees came expressly from New York or from Paris, Rome and Berlin to see the combat. All are patriotically supporting the Yankee champion. They are backing their sentiment with good American dollars, but there is no scarcity of Welsh money.

For twenty-four hours Welshmen have been pouring into the metropolis to attend the contest. With a single voice they predict:

"Freddy Welsh, of Wales, will be the next lightweight champion of the world."

Both boys rested in London today. Both are trained to a hair. Both are the personification of confidence. Welsh, while not predicting that he will knock out his doctory opponent, is sure he will be able to go the twenty rounds and win on points. Ritchie prophesies that he will knock out the little Welshman before the end of the fifteenth round.

Ritchie is going to be the aggressor. Welsh will rely upon his old time tactics of speed and caution. He will exercise the rule of "safety first" while watching for an opening. Welsh is faster with fists and feet than the American, but Ritchie has the advantage in punching strength. A remarkable feature of the fight is the makeup of the crowd. For the first time in the history of the British prize ring there has been a parallel demand from women for seats. Among the applicants were women of the nobility, whose position gives them the right to court circles. Taking their cue from these women of fashion, the "climbers" thought to go one better by giving "fight parties." It is expected that there will be about 1,000 Americans present while the lure has extended into the ranks of science and politics and among the spectators tonight will be many men noted far beyond the borders of England.

Eugene Corri, of the National Sporting Club, who was selected to referee the bout, said that the opening round would be at 9.30 p. m. (4.30 p. m. New York time), following a preliminary contest, scheduled to commence at 8 p. m.

It was estimated that the receipts would aggregate close to $125,000. Ritchie was guaranteed $40,000 with the option of 50 per cent of the receipts if he should lose his title. The American was also given another opportunity to fight Welsh in the event that he loses his championship crown. In the event of defeat Ritchie will be given a chance to fight the Welshman next fall.

The curious British ceremony of having a clergyman for "master of ceremonies" at big fights will be followed. The Rev. Erverard Digby, who officiated in that capacity at the Wells-Bell battle, had volunteered, but upon request of the Bishop of Stepney, he withdrew and a Catholic priest was selected instead.

CLINTONDALE.

Clintondale, July 7.—The subject for the next Sunday morning's service in the Pentecostal Church will be "Divine Achievements." That of the evening service will be "Spurious Piety." Besides the regular music by Mr. and Mrs. Chudleigh, which is always appreciated, there will be selections on the mandolin and banjo together. Edward Harrington, who has had considerable experience as a banjo player, is expected to be with us. We are sure that those who attend will be pleased. Everybody is invited.

Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Elting and son, Alfred, of Clintondale, attended the commencement exercises at Tilton Seminary, Tilton, N. H. The first prize for the best commencement oration was awarded to their son, Jacob Elting, Jr., who spoke on "The Dutch Founders of New York." Mr. Elting also took part in the senior play "Ingomar."

KERHONKSON.

Kerhonkson, July 7.—Dr. T. O. Keator, the well known physician of the Rondout valley, died near his home at Accord early Monday morning, while on his way to a patient. He was a resident of this vicinity nearly all of his life and will be greatly missed by many of his patrons. The funeral service will be held from the Accord Reformed Church Thursday morning at 10:30. Burial will be in the family plot at Rosedale Plains.

A. J. Anderson's Sons have greatly improved their store by fixing up the room in the rear for their shoe department.

The Masonic order of this place attended church service in a body on Sunday evening, having been invited by Rev. Mr. Terwilliger, the pastor of the Reformed Church, and the celebration held at the M. E. Church proved a great success. The day was fine and everybody took advantage of it. L. Murray of Ellenville addressed the crowd shortly after 6 o'clock. His talk was very appropriate for the occasion and enjoyed by all. The supper, also the ice cream, was well patronized and the entertainment was very well attended. Those who took part rendered their selections in fine shape.

Many Yankees came expressly from New York or from Paris, Rome and Berlin to see the combat. All are patriotically supporting the Yankee champion. They are backing their sentiment with good American dollars, but there is no scarcity of Welsh money.

For twenty-four hours Welshmen have been pouring into the metropolis to attend the contest. With a single voice they predict:

"Freddy Welsh, of Wales, will be the next lightweight champion of the world."

Both boys rested in London today. Both are trained to a hair. Both are the personification of confidence. Welsh, while not predicting that he will knock out his doughty opponent, is sure he will be able to win the twenty rounds and win on points. Ritchie prophesies that he will knock out the little Welshman before the end of the fifteenth round.

Ritchie is going to be the aggressor. Welsh will rely upon his old time tactics of speed and caution. He will exercise the rule of "safety first" while watching for an opening. Welsh is faster with fists and feet than the American, but Ritchie has the advantage in punching strength.

A remarkable feature of the fight is the makeup of the crowd. For the first time in the history of the British prize ring there has been a notable demand for seats from women. Among the applicants were women of the nobility, whose position gave them entree to court circles. Taking their cue from these women of fashion, the "climbers" fought to go one better by giving "fight parties." It is expected that there will be about 1,000 Americans present while the lure has extended into the ranks of science and politics and among the spectators tonight will be many men noted far beyond the borders of England.

Eugene Corri, of the National Sporting Club, who was selected to referee the bout, said that the opening round would be at 9.30 p. m. (4.30 p. m. New York time), following a preliminary contest, scheduled to commence at 8 p. m.

It was estimated that the receipts would aggregate close to $125,000. Ritchie was guaranteed $40,000 with the option of 50 per cent of the receipts if he should lose his title. The American was also given another opportunity to fight Welsh in the event that he loses his championship crown. In the event of defeat Ritchie will be given a chance to fight the Welshman next fall.

The curious British ceremony of having a clergyman for "master of ceremonies" at big fights will be followed. The Rev. Reverend Digby, who officiated in that capacity at the Wells-Bell battle, had volunteered, but upon request of the Bishop of Stephen, he withdrew and a Catholic priest was selected instead.

The celebration held at the M. E. Church proved a great success. The day was fine and everybody took advantage of it. L. Murray of Ellenville addressed the crowd shortly after 6 o'clock. His talk was very appropriate for the occasion and enjoyed by all. The supper, also the ice cream, was well patronized and the entertainment was very well attended. KINGSTON, N. Y., JULY 7, 1914.

"As long as man is attracted by beauty and woman by strength eugenics will in a great measure take care of itself," says Dr. Horner of the Cleveland Homeopathic Medical College. Very true, but the tendency of the day is to break down those preferences. The woman suffragists prefer weak men who are so distrustful of their ability to manage the public business that they are yelping for their women folk to help them out. These same propagandists have little use for beauty, since they encourage young women to make themselves look like old hags by "hiking" in this or that direction to some great distance. In the long run, nature will eliminate these ladylike men and hobo-like women, but in the meantime they are causing judicious people much distress. If eugenics is good for anything it will hasten the day when we shall have but two sexes.

Everybody likes a joke if it is on the other fellow, but it needs that rare animal—a philosopher—to laugh when he is the "goat." That is why there is so little mirth among manufacturers over Governor Glynn's expression of hope that before the next Legislature meets the Factory Investigation Commission will have been able to revise the factory laws so as to do away with the causes for so many grievances in the nature of laws which cannot be enforced and orders which are so conflicting that it is impossible to obey them. The joke is that this commission, from which so much is expected, was itself the author of the factory code. Up to this time it has cost the State $170,000, and a year and a half ago it rewrote the Labor Law entirely, putting it in its present exasperating condition. It was a creation of the Democratic administration, instituted for the purpose of making places for heels, although it purported to be for the good of the workman. Heaven knows what the result of its further labors will be, but everybody who own a factory is in a state of apprehension. The fear has no good foundation, however, as it is practically certain that the next Legislature will be composed of men more anxious to benefit the general public than to create patronage.

The Mexican volcano is about due for another eruption. It is believed that the mock election held Sunday will be taken advantage of by Huerta as an excuse for leaving the country, to enjoy the vast fortune which he has sent abroad. This would leave the "vice-president," General Blanquet, as head of the government. He might be recognized by the United States, the character of the election being ignored, but that would be of little advantage to him if the Constitutionalists continue to fight. The latter are unlikely to accept Blanquet or anybody else not connected with their movement, because they have circulated many bushels of fiat currency which would be as worthless to the holders as our Confederate currency is today. The Huertistas, on the other hand, are aware that recognition of the rebel movement involves an obligation to settle some heavy claims, such as arose from the murder of the Englishman Benton. The Washington correspondent of the New York Times, which paper has stood by Wilson right along, now says that "officials of the administration no longer conceal their anxiety over the belief that the rejection of the pacification plan will result in American intervention." All this trouble, past and prospective, has been caused by lack of brains in Washington.

Those half-baked individuals who think that the initiative and referendum are panaceas for all the woes the body politic may have their heads somewhat by the heels. The voters of Oregon are about to pass on no small matter. The pamphlet contains nearly 300 pages of small type, and is so small that it is impossible to read it without a magnifying glass. It is obviously a trap for the unwary. These "Manna" books are sold for two cents each, and are sold in every town.

On sale at all newsstands. C. PETTI, Kingston, N. Y.

the task to men picked for the purpose, but it is the belief of a certain brand of "reformers" that every man who gets elected to the Legislature is necessarily a crook, and that he should not be allowed to pass any law of importance without first submitting it to the "peepul." Consequently, in the eighteen States which have adopted the initiative and the referendum, plain John Doe is required to vote on such questions as the percentage of freight rates on shipments smaller than a car load, the liabilities of stockholders in banks, the protection of laborers employed by sub-contractors, the exemption of certain household effects from taxation, and so on through a dreary and foolish list. Perhaps this political disease, like some maladies which affect the human body, will have to get worse before the cure begins, but when the cure does come it will be thorough.

A CHILD'S MEMORIAL.

(By Our Woman Editor.)

Down in Galveston, Texas, is a playground, two years ago dedicated by the city to a child who, himself, had never learned to play and who died before reaching his twelfth year.

The story reaches back to that dreadful night in 1900 when the whole island upon which Galveston stands was swept by the mighty seas and winds that carried away many homes and lives as they sped on their destructive way.

When the storm burst upon the city, in all its fury, little Kenner Fisher, an infant then, was with his nurse, who guarded him well. All that fierce night, while the waters were rising and the winds were doing their worst, she held her young charge well up in her arms, in a sheltered spot, away from the worst reach of the waters. When the violence was over it was learned that little Kenner was an orphan, for his mother and father were victims of the storm.

The baby was taken into the home of an uncle and aunt, and as the years went by and he grew into boyhood he was strangely unlike other children. In tastes and ideas, he seemed to grow up all of a sudden, never caring to play, and dropping into all sorts of fancies. When he was ten years old he was taken on a trip to a city in the east, where, for the first time, he saw a public playground made for little tads who lived in crowded quarters where play-space was quite out of the reckoning. He was mightily impressed, and the idea caught his serious fancy.

And then he went home. But the playground went with him; at least, it went with his thoughts, for he read playgrounds, talked playgrounds, studied and dreamed about them. Not that he wanted one for himself, but he had many "little brothers" in Galveston whose only playgrounds were the hot city streets.

Then came illness, and a hurried operation; and within a brief time death had carried the little dreamer away to another shore.

His kinfolk, all, had greatly loved the solemn little fellow, for the tender heart of him, the grown-up ways, and the out-reaching thought had made him very dear, and they sadly went about the task of laying away his much-loved books, his queer treasures and all. But they paused when they came to his childish drawings. For they found his dream carefully put upon paper—complete plans for a children's playground.

Without a hint or a word to anyone, he had drawn the lines and marked the field just as he wanted it arranged. Here was the spot where the trees were to be, that the little folk might have plenty of shade; there was the place for the grove; off in a corner was the cozy nook, and flower-beds and swings were carefully placed. Not even the spot for a pole was forgotten, for in the center of the playground was the place where he thought the flag of the nation should float. And at last came the words, penciled in his cramped, childish handwriting:

"A little boy shall say the poem of James Whitcomb Riley, The Flag, on opening day."

Can anyone doubt that guardians kinfolk, who dearly loved a boy like that and who had the means, would hesitate long to make his beautiful dream come true?

When the full significance of the plans and the words flashed upon the grief-stricken family they determined that all the details should be carried out, just as the lad had hoped they might be. An entire block of ground, which had been a part of the family homestead, was deeded to an orphanage in the city; and when the time came for formally turning it over as a playground, prominent citizens took part in the dedication, and a little boy recited the Riley poem, just as Kenner had planned.

And for two years little children in the orphanage have romped under the trees, have enjoyed the swings and the big open space in the playground planned by a child.

And if the story were widely carried abroad might not the child accomplish something more?

Might he not, through his own dream, whisper to folk all over the world that the kind of memorial

The customer in the grocery store, who was hoping to see that sign, "Fresh Paint," asked the grocer, "Of course I did," snapped the customer, "but I've seen so many signs hanging up here announcing something fresh that wasn't that I didn't believe it."—Boston Transcript.

Bobbie and Elsie were told that there were two apples on the table for them. Being taught to consider each other first, Bobbie said: "Take your choice, Elsie." "No," said Elsie, "you take your choice." Each kept insisting that the other take first choice, until finally Elsie broke the deadlock by taking the bigger apple. ## Revised Version.

James Hyde, after his capture of golf championship at Palm Beach, was the guest of honor at a dinner at the Royal Poinciana.

"Mr. Hyde," a young woman golfer asked, "don't you find that elaborate dinners like this interfere with your game?"

"Well, perhaps," Mr. Hyde replied. "But what of it? One thing balances another. You remember the adage—'Eat, drink and be merry. For tomorrow you die.'"

Immunity from Arrest.

The vice president of a big corporation in the city of New York heard that an old friend of his had fallen on unfortunate days, and stood a fine chance to be indicted by the grand jury. Accordingly, he hastened out and found a political friend.

"John," he said, giving him the name of the man threatened with indictment, "this fellow is a close friend of mine, and I don't want him indicted. Can you fix it for me with the next grand jury?"

"Leave it to me," said John. "I'll fix it." "Absolutely sure. Leave it to me, I tell you."

A few weeks later the rich man read in a newspaper that his old and unfortunate friend was on the grand jury. He immediately called up friend politician.

"I'm afraid you misunderstood me," he said excitedly. "I didn't ask you to put that fellow on the grand jury."

"Now, listen," said the politician. "I've asked me not to let him be indicted. Well, I've fixed it. He's no mistake. Grand juries are grand—to themselves."—Popular Magazine.

Addition to the Scriptures.

Stetson was his name, and the production of great dramas was his business. His great talent was success and his weakness was that he always liked to "show off" when he was rehearsing a play. He was in the habit of sitting far back in the darkened theater; and, whenever a stranger came in to see the rehearsal work, he put himself in the foreground by jumping to his feet and bawling out the actors and actresses.

When he was putting on a big production of The Holy City, three friends of his entered the theater one afternoon to see the dress rehearsal. As soon as they had sat down, Stetson began to fidget in his seat. He was consumed by the old fever for prominence. He wanted the visitors to see that he was the boss of everything.

There were twelve men on the stage, which was unusually large.

"Who are those men on the stage?" he called out to his stage manager in a thunderous voice.

"That's one of the big scenes of the play," the manager said humbly.

"Oh, well," shouted Stetson imperiously, "go out and get twelve more. That's a big stage, and we want to fill it up."—Popular Magazine.

Shandaken, July 6.—Miss Katherine MacGregor of Allaben was quietly married to Pearsall Dutcher on June 30 at the parsonage, Pine Hill, by the Rev. C. Blakeney. The happy couple have taken up their residence at Oneonta.

The successful author and playwright, C. W. Goddard, author of "The Misleading Lady" together with Mrs. Goddard, spent Sunday at the Glenbrook, being on an automobile tour to Buffalo and the middle west from New York.

The institute team was composed of DeGraff, Hernandez, Machado, Drumgold, Rowe, Coons, Lavernis, Torre and Lehmann. The following played for Bushnellville: Myer, Fracher, P. Meyer, C. Weber, Vogel, Denning, Chambers, Dreher and Tolar. The game proved an exciting one and was enjoyed by a number of "fans" of both sexes.

"As long as man is attracted by beauty and woman by strength, eugenics will in a great measure take care of itself," says Dr. Horner of the Cleveland Homeopathic Medical College. Very true, but the tendency of the day is to break down those preferences. The woman suffragist prefers weak men who are so distrustful of their ability to manage the public business that they are yelping for their women folk to help them out. These same propagandists have little use for beauty, since they encourage young women to make themselves look like old hags by "hiking" in this or that direction to some great distance. In the long run, nature will eliminate these ladylike men and hobo-like women, but in the meantime they are causing judicious people much distress. If eugenics is good for anything it will hasten the day when we shall have but two sexes.

Everybody likes a joke if it is on the other fellow, but it needs that rare animal—a philosopher—to laugh when he is the "goat." That is why there is so little mirth among manufacturers over Governor Glynn's expression of hope that before the next Legislature meets the Factory Investigation Commission will have been able to revise the factory laws so as to do away with the causes for so many grievances in the nature of laws which cannot be enforced and orders which are so conflicting that it is impossible to obey them. The joke is that this commission, from which so much is expected, was itself the author of the factory code. Up to this time it has cost the State $170,000, and a year and a half ago it rewrote the Labor Law entirely, making it in the present exasperating condition. It was a creation of the Democratic administration, instituted for the purpose of making places for heelsers, although it purported to be for the good of the workman. Heaven knows what the result of its further labors will be, but everybody who own a factory is in a state of apprehension. The fear has no good foundation, however, as it is practically certain that the next Legislature will be composed of men more anxious to benefit the general public than to create patronage.

The Mexican volcano is about due for another eruption. It is believed that the mock election held Sunday will be taken advantage of by Huerta as an excuse for leaving the country, to enjoy the vast fortune which he has sent abroad. This would leave the "vice-president," General Blanquet, as head of the government. He might be recognized by the United States, the character of the election being ignored, but that would be of little advantage to him if the Constitutionalists continue to fight. The latter are unlikely to accept Blanquet or anybody else not connected with their movement, because they have circulated many bushels of fiat currency which would be as worthless to the holders as our Confederate currency is today. The Huertistas, on the other hand, are aware that recognition of the rebel movement involves an obligation to settle some heavy claims, such as arose from the murder of the Englishman Benton. The Washington correspondent of the New York Times, which paper has stood by Wilson right along, now says that "officials of the Administration no longer conceal their anxiety over the belief that the rejection of the pacification plan . . . will result in American intervention." All this trouble, past and prospective, has been caused by lack of brains in the government.

Individuals who have been initiated into the reform movement for all the woes of the world, have been told by the reformers that the only way to pass on no small type, beyond the usual, is to un- . . . previously . . . nothing . . . these . . .

the task to men picked for the purpose, but it is the belief of a certain brand of "reformers" that every man who gets elected to the Legislature is necessarily a crook, and that he should not be allowed to pass any law of importance without first submitting it to the "people." Consequently, in the eighteen States which have adopted the initiative and the referendum, plain John Doe is required to vote on such questions as the percentage of freight rates on shipments smaller than a car load, the liabilities of stockholders in banks, the protection of laborers employed by sub-contractors, the exemption of certain household effects from taxation, and so on through a dreary and foolish list. Perhaps this political disease, like some maladies which affect the human body, will have to get worse before the cure begins, but when the cure does come it will be thorough.

A CHILD'S MEMORIAL.

Down in Galveston, Texas, is a playground, two years ago dedicated by the city to a child who, himself, had never learned to play and who died before reaching his twelfth year.

The story reaches back to that dreadful night in 1900 when the whole island upon which Galveston stands was swept by the mighty seas and winds that carried away many homes and lives as they sped on their destructive way.

When the storm burst upon the city, in all its fury, little Kenner Fisher, an infant then, was with his nurse, who guarded him well. All that fierce night, while the waters were rising and the winds were doing their worst, she held her young charge well up in her arms, in a sheltered spot, away from the worst reach of the waters. When the violence was over it was learned that little Kenner was an orphan, for his mother and father were victims of the storm.

The baby was taken into the home of an uncle and aunt, and as the years went by and he grew into boyhood he was strangely unlike other children. In tastes and ideas, he seemed to grow up all of a sudden, never caring to play, and dropping into all sorts of fancies. When he was ten years old he was taken on a trip to a city in the east, where, for the first time, he saw a public playground made for little tads who lived in crowded quarters where play-space was quite out of the reckoning. He was mightily impressed, and the idea caught his serious fancy.

And then he went home. But the playground went with him; at least, it went with his thoughts, for he read playgrounds, talked playgrounds, studied and dreamed about them. Not that he wanted one for himself, but he had many "little brothers" in Galveston whose only playgrounds were the hot city streets.

His kinfolk, all, had greatly loved the solemn little fellow, for the tender heart of him, the grown-up ways, and the out-reaching thought had made him very dear, and they sadly went about the task of laying away his much-loved books, his queer treasures and all. But they paused when they came to his childish drawings. For they found his dream carefully put upon paper—complete plans for a children's playground.

Without a hint or a word to anyone, he had drawn the lines and marked the field just as he wanted it arranged. Here was the spot where the trees were to be, that the little folk might have plenty of shade; there was the place for the grove; off in a corner was the cozy nook, and flower-beds and swings were carefully placed. Not even the spot for a pole was forgotten, for in the center of the playground was the place where he thought the flag of the nation should float. And at last came the words, penciled in his cramped, childish handwriting:

Can anyone doubt that guardians kinfolk, who dearly loved a boy like that and who had the means, would hesitate long to make his beautiful dream come true?

When the full significance of the plans and the words flashed upon the grief-stricken family they determined that all the details should be carried out, just as the lad had hoped they might be. An entire block of ground, which had been a part of the family homestead, was deeded to an orphanage in the city; and when the time came for formally turning it over as a playground, prominent citizens took part in the dedication, and a little boy recited the Riley poem, just as Kenner had planned.

And for two years little children in the orphanage have romped under the trees, have enjoyed the swings and the big open space in the playground planned by a child.

LITTLE LAUGHS.

The customer in the grocery store, having ruined his clothes, was hopping mad. "Didn't you see that sign, 'Fresh Paint'?" asked the grocer. "Of course I did," snapped the customer, "but I've seen so many signs hung up here announcing something fresh that wasn't that I didn't believe it."—Boston Transcript.

Hobbie and Elsie were told that there were two apples on the table for them. Being taught to consider each other first, Hobbie said: "Take your choice, Elsie." "No," said Elsie, "you take your choice." Each kept insisting that the other take the first choice, until finally Elsie broke the deadlock by taking the bigger apple. Instantly Hobbie's eyes flashed, and he exclaimed, wrathfully, "Put that back and take your choice."—Boston Transcript.

Teacher—"Did any one help you with this map, Sam?" Sam—"No, sir. My brother did it all by himself."—Life.

Bix—"Would you marry a woman who couldn't cook?" Dix—"In a minute—if she didn't think she could cook."—Boston Transcript.

"He's broke." "And the girl he was engaged to has dropped him." "She dropped and broke him, eh?" "No, she broke and dropped him."—Houston Post.

Hotel Waiter—"Come, sir, you really must go off to bed, sir." (Yawns.) "Why, the dawn's a-breaking, sir." Late Reveller—"Let it break—and put in down in the bill, waiter."—Punch.

Mr. Flubdub—"I lost my umbrella today." Mrs. Flubdub—"That's just like you, John Henry. I told you when you left the house this morning to take one of the borrowed ones."—Puck.

"You are in favor of government ownership?" "With certain limitations," replied Mr. Dustin Stax. "I'd welcome an arrangement by which the government would be pledged to buy any of my property that I'm tired of trying to run."—Washington Star.

Revised Version.

James Hyde, after his capture of golf championship at Palm Beach, was the guest of honor at a dinner at the Royal Poinciana.

"Mr. Hyde," a young woman golfer asked, "don't you find that elaborate dinners like this interfere with your game?" "Well, perhaps," Mr. Hyde replied. "But what of it? One thing balances another. You remember the adage—'Eat, drink and be merry. For tomorrow you die!'"

Immunity from Arrest.

The vice president of a big corporation in the city of New York heard that an old friend of his had fallen on unfortunate days, and stood a fine chance to be indicted by the grand jury. Accordingly, he hastened out and found a political friend, "John," he said, giving him the name of the man threatened with indictment, "this fellow is a close friend of mine, and I don't want him indicted. Can you fix it for me with the next grand jury?"

"Leave it to me," said John. "I'll fix it." "Absolutely sure. Leave it to me, I tell you."

A few weeks later the rich man read in a newspaper that his old and unfortunate friend was on the grand jury. He immediately called up friend politician.

"I'm afraid you misunderstood me," he said excitedly. "I didn't ask you to put that fellow on the grand jury."

"Now, listen," said the politician, "I've asked me not to let my name be put on the grand jury. I've fixed it so that I'm not on the grand jury. I've fixed it so that I'm not on the grand jury. I've fixed it so that I'm not on the grand jury."—Popular Magazine.

Addition to the Scriptures.

Stetson was his name, and the production of great dramas was his business. His great talent was success and his weakness was that he always liked to "show off" when he was rehearsing a play. He was in the habit of sitting far back in the darkened theater; and, whenever a stranger came in to see the rehearsal work, he put himself in the foreground by jumping to his feet and bawling out the actors and actresses. When he was putting on a big production of The Holy City, three friends of his entered the theater one afternoon to see the dress rehearsal. As soon as they had sat down, Stetson began to fidget in his seat. He was consumed by the old fever for prominence. He wanted the visitors to see that he was the boss of everything.

There were twelve men on the stage, which was unusually large. "Who are those men on the stage?" he called out to his stage manager in a thunderous voice.

"That's one of the big scenes of the play," the manager said humbly. "Oh, well," shouted Stetson imperiously, "go out and get twelve more. That's a big stage, and we want to fill it up."—Popular Magazine.

"LATE START" CLAIMED

"Cactus" Cravath Denies That He Is a "Come-Back."

One of the Greatest Slugging Hitters
Ever in Baseball Is Slow Runner, Mediocre Fielder, but Leads National League.

He was born at San Diego, Cal.,
March 23, 1882.
His name is Clifford Clarence Cravath.

He goes by the nickname "Cravvy" or "Cactus."

He is 5 feet 10 inches tall, and weighs 186 pounds.

He played baseball as a catcher on the local high school team.

He left home at the age of fifteen years to make his fortune, and for three years didn't see a baseball.

He worked at various jobs during these three years, and eventually learned to be a telegraph operator.

He first played semipro ball at San Diego.

He began his professional baseball career at Los Angeles as a catcher.

He was shifted to the outfield because of lack of good outfield material, and has played there ever since.

He played for five years at Los Angeles before he gained admittance to the major leagues.

He was the property of three American league clubs in succession, the Red Sox, White Sox and Washington, failing to make good in every case.

He was taken to Minneapolis of the American association by Joe Cantillon in 1909, where he remained three years.

During these three years he made a great reputation, and was annually drafted by major league clubs.

His experience was a glaring arrangement of the draft rules, which allow a star to be smothered indefinitely in the minors.

He was finally accorded to Pittsburgh by draft, only to have the claim

Clifford Clarence Cravath.

annulled in favor of a prior purchase
by Horace Fogel.

He went to Philadelphia in 1912 for $4,000.

He claims that he began his major league career in earnest on his thirtieth birthday.

His greatest year was the season of 1913, when he batted for .341, led the league in number of hits and total bases, and drove in a record number of runs.

He claims that he is not a comeback, but rather started late.

He is a slow runner, a mediocre fielder, and an unknown quantity on inside baseball. But he is one of the greatest slugging hitters who ever lived.

In his youth he played professional football, but his favorite sports at present are hunting and fishing.

He is married, and has one child—a daughter.

His winter home is near Los Angeles, overlooking the Pacific.

Some Queer Mix-Ups.

The rule against coaches touching base runners at third base has caused some queer mix-ups this season. Recently a Washington runner, rounding third, ran into Manager Griffith, who was coaching and Umpire O'Loughlin called the runner out, on the theory that it was not for him to say if the collision was intentional or otherwise on the part of the coach. The reasoning of O'Loughlin is sound, that a coach, after stepping a heedless base runner, might claim they came together accidentally, but there is no sense in a decision reported from a minor league city in the South, where the umpire called a runner on third out because a coach had handed him a handkerchief, the runner's nose having started to bleed. It was never intended that a coach should not approach a runner after he had quit running, to give him advice or render assistance, as in the case of the nose bleed.

William James Is Popular.

Pitcher William James is quite a popular character in major league base ball this season. There are only three of them, and recently, strangely enough, all three got into action the same day. William James of the Naps, William H. James of the St.
Louis Browns, and William L. James of the Boston Braves, are the James boys in the big league this season.
The day they all worked the Naps lost in Washington, the St. Louis man retired with flying colors before his team beat out the Yankees, while the Boston gent walloped the Pirates.

One Player Won't Jump.

Dick Egan of the Brooklyn Dodgers is one player that the Feds can not induce to jump, for he is getting his $7,000 from Brooklyn, and that is as much as he can get if he jumps.

ST. REMY.

St. Remy, July 6.—There will be an ice cream social on the church lawn on Saturday evening, July 11.

the printer always picks is LIBERTY.

Not "Pi", Mr. Printer, but P-I-E.
It's the real old toothsome pie for you, too, when you get hold of LIBERTY tobacco. You're never mussed up when you've got LIBERTY. It's a rich, sweet, healthy smoke or chew; and the printer is glad of a chance to use printer's ink to tell the rest of the world how good it is.

LIBERTY

Long Cut Tobacco

is a prime favorite with printers and all live, hustling he-boys who know and like a smoke or a chew of real man's tobacco.

And LIBERTY is always the same—always satisfying. We don't let LIBERTY go out of the factory until it has been aged from three to five years, so that all the rich, mellow, natural sweetness of its Kentucky leaf is at its best.

When you're tobacco hungry, you want clean, honest juicy tobacco with some backbone to it. You never see a LIBERTY user switch to some other brand. He knows nothing can compare with LIBERTY for downright tobacco satisfaction. A week's trial of LIBERTY will prove this to you—will make you a permanent user of LIBERTY.

BUILDING TRADES ACTIVE WHEN FAIR

Between the Rains Local Workmen Find Plenty to do on the Many Buildings Now in Progress in This City.

The rainy weather of the past few days has caused a lull in building operations but the local journeymen in all trades seem to be busy when the weather is fair. Great progress is being made on the new high school for which George T. Kelly of Yonkers has the contract. About a score of masons are employed in laying up the walls. Some very heavy pieces of Indiana limestone are being hauled on the work. The yellow brick front presents a pretty appearance from Broadway. The iron work is beginning to rise and a number of men are employed in raising the columns and laying the heavy steel girders. Emerson Powell is engaged in drawing some of the heavy iron work.

The handsome stucco residence of John Maher at the corner of Broadway and Staples street is rapidly nearing completion. The location of the house is a slightly one and the house attracts much attention.

Louis Wolf has completed the contract of painting and papering the flat of Mrs. John N. Cordis at No. 8 Maiden Lane, near the corner of Broadway.

The building of William Hutton on Hasbrouck avenue, opposite Hasbrouck Place, is already enclosed and nearing completion. The roof is being shingled. Houghtaling Brothers of Port Ewen have the contract for the carpenter work.

Emil H. Lawatsch and A. J. Marks have completed the big eighty-four foot addition to the Central Garage of O. M. Kennedy at Broadway and St. James street. The building is composed of concrete stone block manufactured by Mr. Lawatsch and Mr. Marks had the carpenter work. Mr. Lawatsch's concrete block factory in Wilbur is working overtime getting out orders.

Plans have been prepared for August Stork for a fine new cottage on Andrew street. The contracts have not yet been awarded.

Stephen Staples has considerably improved the appearance of the cracker bakery building on Hasbrouck avenue near Mill street by painting the same. A concrete floor has also been laid there.

John Shultis has been busy engaged in laying the exterior of the Transport Hotel on East Strand, adjoining Fischer's Hotel, which was recently purchased from W. F. Rafferty by Carl G. Fischer. The work adds much to the appearance of the property.

The Hauck Brewing Company is making extensive repairs to the building at Broadway and O'Reilly street, occupied as a cafe by William Decker.

George F. Schumann, who recently purchased the property adjoining the hotel at Eddyville, intends erecting a large garage on the lot.

The billboard on Broadway opposite the New York Telephone Company's building, is being rebuilt.

MONBACUS.

Mombacus, July 7.—Mrs. Joannah Hager and son of Scobelskill are spending some time with her mother, Mrs. Luther Terwilliger. John Terwilliger and family of Mountain House Farm have returned to their home.

Fourth of July passed off very quiet. The noise of mowing machines is being heard now days.

Mrs. Joannah Hager and son, Julian, of Scobelskill, was called here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Hager's father, Luther Terwilliger, who died June 30.

Mrs. Willis Markle and son, Ralph, spent Sunday with her daughter, Mrs. Oscar Quirk.

Mrs. Orval Bell called on her mother, Mrs. Mariah Bell, on Saturday and Sunday.

MT. MARION.

Mt. Marion, July 7.—A large number from here attended the Fourth of July celebration at Saugerties and heard Mr. Sulzer's address.

On account of the absence of our pastor, we listened to a very interesting sermon by the pastor of Blue Mountain Church.

Mrs. H. M. Whittaker spent Wednesday and Thursday with her sister at Hoboken.

The club met at the home of Mrs. W. R. Snyder.

Mrs. C. F. Snyder has quite a few boarders.

Mr. and Mrs. Abram Post, Jr., of Cottekill are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Albert D. Law.

Excursion Car Service.

Both the Kingston City and Colonial street car lines will run extra cars from Wall and North Front streets on Wednesday morning, beginning at 7:30, to accommodate the Clinton Avenue and Trinity excursionist. Those who are planning to go on this popular excursion to Albany, will remember that the Mary Powell will leave the dock promptly at 8:30 a. m.—Advertisement.

In Recorder's Court.

The case of The People against Christopher Cummings came up in recorder's court this morning but was adjourned until Friday when defendant demanded a jury trial. He was arrested for assaulting his sister.

A Modern House at Low Cost

This is a most beautiful and artistic design with graceful lines and harmonious detail that make it one of the most pleasing but inexpensive designs. There are many places where this house could be built for less, mostly in the west where wood is cheap or in the south.

A pretty side porch, opens into a light hall with a simple Colonial staircase. To the right is the living room with a fireplace and good style mantle, and back of it separated by sliding doors is the dining room with a pretty bay window. At the back of the hall is a little den or sewing room which connects with the kitchen—a convenience where no servant is kept or where the housewife wishes to overlook the work. There is a good pantry between dining room and kitchen, and a large kitchen closet as well as a pot and broom closet. The kitchen is of a convenient size, light and airy. The cellar stairs are accessible also from the outside with an entrance at grade.

On the second floor are three bed rooms and large closets as well as a linen closet. There is only a lot above.

The ninety-fifth anniversary of the William T. Reynolds and Co., Poughkeepsie, was held in their commodious and handsomely furnished business room, Thursday, June 25, from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The principal office was most beautifully decorated with cut flowers, and instrumental music familiar to all flooded down from an upper room. There was a large attendance of business men from both sides of the Hudson river, members of the firm, and many of those present who wished to be shown through the largest wholesale business plant along the middle section of the Hudson river valley, were given the privilege.

Mr. Clarence, of the firm of William T. Reynolds, and James Reynolds, a nephew, called William T. Reynolds and Co., informed the writer that the firm had been in existence for over 100 years, beginning as jobbers, but as wholesale grocers from 1819 to 1914.

At 12 noon a buffet luncheon was served by Smith Bros., which the business men enjoyed not as a form, but as a delicious factor of human sustenance. All who attended were also given a fine souvenir in form of a pencil. The anniversary is not annual as stated in former items, but only the ninety-fifth occurring in 1914.

BUILDING TRADES ACTIVE WHEN FAIR

Between the Rains Local Workmen Find Plenty to do on the Many Buildings Now in Progress in This City.

The rainy weather of the past few days has caused a lull in building operations but the local journey-men in all trades seem to be busy when the weather is fair. Great progress is being made on the new high school for which George T. Kelly of Yonkers has the contract. About a score of masons are employed in laying up the walls. Some very heavy pieces of Indiana limestone are being hauled on the work. The yellow brick front presents a pretty appearance from Broadway. The iron work is beginning to rise and a number of men are employed in raising the columns and laying the heavy steel girders. Emerson Powell is engaged in drawing some of the heavy iron work.

The handsome stucco residence of John Maher at the corner of Broadway and Staples street is rapidly nearing completion. The location of the house is a slightly one and the house attracts much attention.

Louis Wolf has completed the contract of painting and papering the flats of Mrs. John N. Cordis at No. 8 Maiden Lane, near the corner of Broadway.

The building of William Hutton on Hasbrouck avenue, opposite Hasbrouck Place, is already enclosed and nearing completion. The roof is being shingled. Houghtaling Brothers of Port Ewen have the contract for the carpenter work.

Plans have been prepared for August Stork for a fine new cottage on Andrew street. The contracts have not yet been awarded.

Stephen Staples has considerably improved the appearance of the cracker bakery building on Hasbrouck avenue near Mill street by painting the same. A concrete floor has also been laid there.

John Shults has been busily engaged of late in painting the exterior of the Transport Hotel on East Strand, adjoining Fischer's Hotel, which was recently purchased from W. F. Rafferty by Carl G. Fischer. The work adds much to the appearance of the property.

The Hauck Brewing Company is making extensive repairs to the building at Broadway and O'Reilly street, occupied as a cafe by William Decker.

George F. Schumann, who recently purchased the property adjoining the hotel at Eddyville, is erecting a large garage on the lot.

The billboard on Broadway opposite the New York Telephone Company's building, is being rebuilt.

The ninety-fifth anniversary of the William T. Reynolds and Co., Poughkeepsie, was held in their commodious and handsomely furnished business room, Thursday, June 25, from 11 a. m. to 6 p. m.

The principal office was most beautifully decorated with cut flowers, and instrumental music familiar to all flooded down from an upper room. There was a large attendance of business men from both sides of the Hudson river, members of the firm, and many of those present who wished to be shown through the largest wholesale business plant along the middle section of the Hudson river valley, were given the privilege.

Mr. Clarence, of the firm of William T. Reynolds and Co., informed the writer that the firm had been in existence for over 100 years, beginning as jobbers, but as wholesale grocers from 1819 to 1914. At 12 noon a buffet luncheon was served by Smith Bros., which the business men enjoyed not as a form, but as a delicious factor of human sustenance. All who attended were also given a fine souvenir in form of a pencil. The anniversary is not annual as stated in former items, but only the ninety-fifth occurring in 1914.

In political vernacular the river which Col. Roosevelt discovered in far away Brazil, should be called the "River of Perfidy," as he left the party which gave to him the presidency.

A rig belonging to Joseph Connors, in which a young lady was sitting was overturned during the evening of the Fourth, and she was thrown out. Some bruises and a torn costume resulted, but no serious accident occurred as the horse did not run away.

Westinghouse Strike Quiet.

By Telegraph to The Freeman. Pittsburgh, Pa., July 7.—Vice President H. P. Davis of the Westinghouse corporation said today that the company would attempt to break the strike by hiring men at Detroit, Cleveland and Altoona, Pa. The company has already taken steps, he said, to establish agencies at those points. Today was the quietest in the strike one since the strike began. Comparatively few strikers were on the streets.

I. W. W. BOMB KILLS FOUR, WRECKS SEVEN STORY TENEMENT HOUSE.

New York, July 7.—The appalling wreck of the double-decker seven-story tenement house at No. 1626 Lexington avenue, caused July 4, by the explosion of a dynamite bomb which Arthur Caron, of the I. W. W. notoriety was making in his room. It is the belief of the police that the anarchistic groups and other agitators had carefully prepared a scheme to engage in a spectacular demonstration in behalf of thirteen I. W. W. leaders who will be called upon to face trial in Tarrytown on charge of riotous conduct in connection with the "mourning" campaign against John D. Rockefeller. Four persons were killed, including Caron, in the bomb explosion.

BOMB MAKER'S BODY BEING CARRIED AWAY AFTER EXPLOSION.

New York, July 7.—The photograph above shows the police and firemen carrying out the dead body of Arthur Caron, the I. W. W. bomb manufacturer, who while making a bomb in his room at 1626 Lexington avenue, caused an explosion which wrecked a double-lecker seven-story tenement house at that address and killed three other persons.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Pittsburgh, Pa., July 7.—Vice President H. P. Davis of the Westinghouse corporation said today that the company would attempt to break the strike by hiring men at Detroit, Cleveland and Altoona, Pa. The company has already taken steps, he said, to establish agencies at those points. Today was the quietest in the strike one since the strike began. Comparatively few strikers were on the streets.

I. W. W. BOMB KILLS FOUR, WRECKS SEVEN STORY TENEMENT HOUSE.

New York, July 7.—The appalling wreck of the double-decker seven-story tenement house at No. 1626 Lexington avenue, caused July 4, by the explosion of a dynamite bomb which Arthur Caron, of the I. W. W. notoriety was making in his room. It is the belief of the police that the anarchistic groups and other agitators had carefully prepared a scheme to engage in a spectacular demonstration in behalf of thirteen I. W. W. leaders who will be called upon to face trial in Tarrytown on charge of riotous conduct in connection with the "mourning" campaign against John D. Rockefeller. Four persons were killed, including Caron, in the bomb explosion.

BOMB MAKER'S BODY BEING CARRIED AWAY AFTER EXPLOSION.

New York, July 7.—The photograph above shows the police and men carrying out the dead body of Arthur Caron, the I. W. W. bomb maker, who while making a bomb in his room at 1626 Lexington avenue, caused an explosion which wrecked a double-decker seven-story tenement house at that address and killed three other persons.

POLICE FEAR ANARCHIST RIOT

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, July 7.—Fearing that a public funeral for the anarchists killed by the explosion of a bomb last Saturday will afford an opportunity for a repetition of the Haymarket riot that occurred in Chicago in 1886, city officials conferred today in an effort to decide upon the best means of preventing the demonstration. Mayor Mitchell called Police Commissioner Woods into conference early in the day to discuss the laws that might be invoked.

Two plans were decided upon as feasible. One was to order the burial of the bodies before Saturday, the date set for the demonstration, the other to refuse a permit for a gathering at Union Square. Under the law the health department has the authority to force the burial of all bodies within 96 hours after death. The time limit in the case of the anarchists will expire tomorrow morning.

Though all of the officials are anxious to avoid any appearance of "persecution" it is believed that Health Commissioner Goldwater will refuse to grant any extension of time to the promoters of the proposed demonstration.

The matter was slated to come up for discussion at this afternoon's meeting of the city council. Alderman Charles Delaney, who represents the district in which the explosion occurred, announced that he would introduce a measure to forbid funeral orations over the bodies.

No trace has yet been found of Michael Aspentini alias Murphy, the only member of the party of anarchists who escaped when the explosion occurred. It is believed that he is hiding in Paterson, N. J., as every haunt of the "Reds" in this city has been searched.

Excursion Goes, Rain or Shine.

The joint excursion which has been arranged by the Sunday schools of the Clinton Avenue and Trinity M. E. Churches will be held tomorrow rain or shine. The Mary Powell, which will take the crowd to Albany, will leave the Powell dock at 8:30 promptly and all who expect to enjoy this treat must be there on time. Arrangements have been made with the trolley company to have a number of special cars on both lines between 7:30 and 8:10 for the convenience of those who are going to take this trip. A large orchestra will be on hand and will play all of the latest airs and ragtime to entertain the members of the Industrial Home, who will be the guests of the two Sunday schools. The boat will leave Albany at 4 o'clock, giving the people nearly three hours in the city to see the many interesting sights and to visit the capitol and educational building. Dinner and refreshments can be had on the boat for a very small sum. Tickets can be purchased from any member of either school or at the boat if any decide at the last moment to go. The boat will arrive in Kingston at an early hour and will be met by special cars.

More Guards at Pocantico.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Tarrytown, N. Y., July 7.—The largest force of armed guards that has ever guarded the Rockefeller estate at Pocantico Hills was on duty today. No person was permitted to approach the old man's home without stating his business and showing that he had a legitimate reason for being in the vicinity. The appearance of additional guards was explained when it became known that they were detectives who have been working in New York to learn the identity of the most active "Reds" and be able to recognize them if they attempt to invade the Rockefeller estate.

DEATH OF DR. KEATOR.

Accord Correspondent Corrects Several Errors that Were Made.

Accord, July 7.—In Monday's Freeman several erroneous statements appeared concerning the death of the late Dr. T. O. Keator. The following is believed to be a more correct statement of the facts: At about 6:30 a. m. Monday he left his home in his automobile to answer a call from a party in St. Jose. At a time not later than 7 o'clock and probably several minutes earlier, George Rose walking up the steep hill near Russell Lawrence's home, about a mile distant from Accord, discovered the doctor lying in the road behind the auto, which had been blocked with stones to prevent it from backing down the hill. A few moments later Henry Lawrence appeared on the scene and the two of them carried the doctor to the side of the road. He was entirely unconscious, the only sign of life being short gasps which ceased in a few minutes. The coroner and H. B. Humiston were summoned and after some time arrived and had his body removed to his late residence. Cause of death was heart disease from which he had been suffering for some years. The funeral will be held Thursday a. m. in the Reformed Church.

In the baseball games Saturday Granite defeated Accord, and the married men defeated the single men. Gross proceeds of the Fourth of July celebration was about $95.

HUERTA DELEGATES READY TO CONFER

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 7.—Waiting for word from the Argentine envoy in Washington, who is now bringing pressure to bear upon the Constitutionalists from every possible diplomatic source, the Huerta peace delegates in New York today, declared themselves still confident that a parley with the rebels would be had.

"We are staying here until Minister Naon sends us definite information, which we think will be favorable," said Senor Emilio Rabasa, head of the delegation. "We are concerned only with bringing about peace, and we rely upon the one mediator who is in Washington and is in touch with the authorities there in that direction. We do not know directly as to the errand of Mr. Sullivan, who has been sent to Saltillo. We believe that delegates will be sent here to discuss peace."

Others in the Mexican party stated that they relied upon the fact that Minister Naon now feels it incumbent upon him, as the spokesman of the mediators who took credit for proposing the direct negotiations between the Huerta and Carranza factions, to bring about this direct conference. His fellow mediators do not sympathize with his anxiety, believing that the parley will accomplish nothing.

Senor Rabasa had a conference last night with Manuel Esteve, the Mexican consul for New York. Esteve is understood to have reported upon the shipment of arms and other supplies by the revolutionist junta from this port.

While the Mexicans would make no comment upon the criticism of the American occupation of Vera Cruz attributed today to Ambassador Da Gama of Brazil, it was evident that they approved the sentiment. Given the port of Vera Cruz, men close in their confidence asserted, the Huerta government would take on a new lease of strength and the rebels would be compelled to talk peace.

Senores Rabasa and Rodriguez are keeping in touch with developments in Mexico City through private as well as official dispatches, and because of the alarming nature of some of the press dispatches from their capital they have sent inquiries regarding the safety of relatives and friends.

Kodesto C. Roland, acting commercial agent for the Constitutional government here, had no word from General Carranza today on the possibility of peace conferences. Nevertheless, the impression prevailed at the agency that the "first chief" of the revolution would be willing to send representatives here to talk with the Huertistas.

"If they want to discuss terms of surrender, probably our government will be ready to make certain concessions," said a man in the confidence of the Carranza faction. What concessions would be offered, beyond guarantees of personal safety to the majority of the Huerta faction, the revolutionists would not suggest. They declared that the question of the confiscation of property held by the backers of General Huerta would be settled in due course and by "legal" methods.

Unofficial denial was given the reports from Huertista sources that a general massacre of prominent Huertistas was planned as soon as Mexico City should be taken. The agency declares that nothing is further from the minds of the Constitutional leaders.

"The best answer to such reports" they said "is the fact that at Torreón and Saltillo and Monterey there was no such execution of even the more prominent Huertistas."

As though to add to the discomfort of their enemies, the Constitutionalists today moved their agency from its uptown location to 17 Battery Place, the building in which the Mexican consul-general has his offices.

CHARITIES AID ACTS.

Resolutions on Death of Miss Forsyth Adopted at Meeting.

A special meeting of the Ulster County Branch of the State Charities Aid Association was held last night in the court house, at which there was a good attendance. Admiral Higginson presided. Plans for raising money to meet the needs of the association were discussed and it was decided to send out letters asking for subscriptions. It was also decided to publish a booklet telling of the work during the past two years.

Mrs. DeWitt Roosa read the following resolution, which was unanimously approved:

God, in his all wise providence having seen fit to remove from her broad field of usefulness our beloved member, Miss Mary Isabella Forsyth, Resolved, that in her death the Ulster County Branch of the State Charities Aid Association has sustained a great loss and it is but fitting that we express our appreciation of her noble character, and pay our tribute to her whose life was devoted to the welfare of others and the uplift of mankind. Her hand was always outstretched to aid the suffering and the needy and to uphold those who were cast down.

Queen among women, and yet as guileless as a little child, she drew all hearts to her by her gentleness and sweetness of character and many will "rise up and call her blessed." She was especially interested in the work of this society and a most valuable member. We shall miss her kindly face, and her wise counsel and advice.

Gifted with literary qualities of a high order, her pen was often busy and aided greatly in preserving the history and traditions of Ulster county.

Miss Mary Isabella Forsyth will long be missed from our society, but although her voice will no longer be heard among us and the grasp of her hand will be no longer felt, yet her name will ever remain on the records of our society as a symbol of earnest purpose, true sympathy and the real accomplishment of the objects for which we stand.

A true follower of her Lord Master, who she delighted to honor, may the mantle of her Christian spirit fall on us who remain, and prove an inspiration to us.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, the daily press, and be embodied in the minutes of this society; also that a copy be sent to the State Charities Organization in New York city, of which this society is an auxiliary.

MARY S. ROOSA.

BADLY INJURED ON BRICKYARD

An Italian employed on Brigham Brothers' brickyard at East Kingston sustained what may prove to be fatal injuries while at work on the yard this morning. He was at work on the clay bank when a slide occurred and he was buried under the miniature avalanche which resulted. When picked up the man was unconscious and he was carried to his home nearby. Dr. E. E. Norwood was summoned and found that the injured man was suffering from some injury to his spine but could not definitely say that his back bone had been broken. The man is in critical condition and his recovery is problematical.

Precaution.

During the preparation for battle Pat emerged from his tent wearing his uniform hind side before. This soon attracted the attention of his superior officer, who demanded an explanation. Pat scratched his head and seemed loath to comply, but finally replied, with a sheepish grin: "Well, begorra, Oi thot if Oi wore it this way, thir when Oi had to retreat Oi wouldn't get shot in the back."—Life.

TRUMBULL CYCLE CAR

Cost but 50 cents a day to run

You could write an almost perfect description of this wonderful little car just by putting down the car qualities you have wanted for years; lightness, low fuel cost, lowest possible tire cost, the rugged strength of a truck and the graceful, stream lines of an imported racer, all achieved without freakiness or experimental vagaries.

The Trumbull is an evolution. It stands for all that is known of automobile design and construction. Every mechanical device that insures strength and durability, every refinement of design that has been developed in the automobile industry, is incorporated in the Trumbull. Nothing is lacking.

To read Trumbull specifications is to recognize them as the specifications of a highly developed, ultra-modern automobile. The only difference is in size. Mechanical starter? Yes. Electric lights? Yes. Comfort? Ample for two, with compartment in rear for two hundred pounds of luggage. Four-cylinder water-cooled motor. Split-disk high-tension magneto. Non-skid U. S. Tires. Top, windshield, electric lights and horn, mechanical self-starter and tools are included as regular equipment at the extraordinary price of

ASHOKAN PROFITS SHOWN.

Lecky Testifies to Winstons Making Nearly a Million.

Another hearing was had at the court house today before the Hon. Marcus T. Hun of Albany, as referee, in the action brought by James D. Lecky against James O. Winston and T. S. Winston, to recover moneys to which Mr. Lecky claims he is entitled under an agreement claimed to have been made with the Winstons at the time he was employed by them to arrange with banks for procuring money with which to carry on the work of construction of the Ashokan dam and dike.

Mr. Lecky was recalled for further examination by his counsel, Mr. Hal-dane of New York city, and also was further cross-examined by Judge Clearwater, counsel for the Messrs. Winston. Mr. Lecky testified that figures furnished to him for use in securing loans showed a profit on Contracts No. 3 and 10, up to November 30, 1910, of $985,136.

Mr. Lecky was cross-examined at length by Judge Clearwater in regard to conversations he had had with the Messrs. Winston in New York city and at Richmond, Va. The hearing was continued this afternoon.

Motor Boat Sinks.

A motor boat, which came in the creek a few days ago from New York, sprang a leak at the dock of the Kingston Yacht Club at Wilbur this morning and sank within a few minutes. The attaches of the yacht club and people from John A. Fischer's hotel nearby went to work and will raise the boat. It is a large cruiser and must have been considerably damaged by its immersion. Who the owner was could not be learned.

WARBURG WILL DECLINE.

Another New York Banker Will be Named in His Place.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, July 7.—Paul M. Warburg of New York, practically has been eliminated as a member of the Federal Reserve Board. President Wilson had been advised unofficially that he will refuse to accept the place rather than submit to an examination by the senate committee on banking and currency. The White House has not heard from him directly, however, but expects to.

Warburg's stand that he did not solicit his appointment to the Federal Reserve Board and does not desire to be placed in the position of defending his banking career, is well understood in Washington.

President Wilson is reluctant to accept Warburg's declination, according to Secretary Tamm. He is understood, however, to be ready to name another New Yorker to the place when Warburg makes public his attitude.

POLICE FEAR ANARCHIST RIOT

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 7.—Fearing that a public funeral for the anarchists killed by the explosion of a bomb last Saturday will afford an opportunity for a repetition of the Haymarket riot that occurred in Chicago in 1886, city officials conferred today in an effort to decide upon the best means of preventing the demonstration. Mayor Mitchell called Police Commissioner Woods into conference early in the day to discuss the laws that might be invoked.

Two plans were decided upon as feasible. One was to order the burial of the bodies before Saturday, the date set for the demonstration, the other to refuse a permit for a gathering at Union Square. Under the law the health department has the authority to force the burial of all bodies within 96 hours after death. The time limit in the case of the anarchists will expire tomorrow morning.

Though all of the officials are anxious to avoid any appearance of "persecution" it is believed that Health Commissioner Goldwater will refuse to grant any extension of time to the promoters of the proposed demonstration.

The matter was then to come up for discussion at this afternoon's meeting of the city council. Alderman Charles Delaney, who represents the district in which the explosion occurred, announced that he would introduce a measure to forbid funeral orations over the bodies.

No trace has yet been found of Michael Aspertini alias Murphy, the only member of the party of anarchists who escaped when the explosion occurred. It is believed that he is hiding in Paterson, N. J., as every haunt of the "Reds" in this city has been searched.

Excursion Goes, Rain or Shine.

The joint excursion which has been arranged by the Sunday schools of the Clinton Avenue and Trinity M. E. Churches will be held tomorrow rain or shine. The Mary Powell, which will take the crowd to Albany, will leave the Powell dock at 8:30 promptly and all who expect to enjoy this treat must be there on time. Arrangements have been made with the trolley company to have a number of special cars on both lines between 7:30 and 8:10 for the convenience of those who are going to take this trip. A large orchestra will be on board and will play all of the latest airs and ragtimes to entertain the members of the Industrial Home, who will be the guests of the two Sunday schools. The boat will leave Albany at 4 o'clock, giving the people nearly three hours in the city to see the many interesting sights and to visit the capitol and educational building. Dinner and refreshments can be had on the boat for a very small sum. Tickets can be purchased from any member of either school or at the boat if any decide at the last moment to go. The boat will arrive in Kingston at an early hour and will be met by special cars.

More Guards at Pocantico.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Tarrytown, N. Y., July 7.—The largest force of armed guards that has ever guarded the Rockefeller estate at Pocantico Hills was on duty today. No person was permitted to approach the oil man's home without stating his business and showing that he had a legitimate reason for being in the vicinity. The appearance of additional guards was explained when it became known that they were detectives who have been working in New York to learn the identity of the most active "Reds" and be able to recognize them if they attempt to invade the Rockefeller estate.

DEATH OF DR. KEATOR.

Accord Correspondent Corrects Several Errors that Were Made.

Accord, July 7.—In Monday's Freeman several erroneous statements appeared concerning the death of the late Dr. T. O. Keator. The following is believed to be a more correct statement of the facts: At about 6:30 a. m. Monday he left his home in his automobile to answer a call from a party in St. Jose. At a time not later than 7 o'clock and probably several minutes earlier, George Rose walking up the steep hill near Russell Lawrence's home, about a mile distant from Accord, discovered the doctor lying in the road behind the auto, which had been blocked with stones to prevent it from backing down the hill. A few moments later Henry Lawrence appeared on the scene, and the two of them carried the doctor to the side of the road. He was entirely unconscious, the only sign of life being short gasps which ceased in a few minutes. The coroner and H. B. Humiston were summoned and after some time arrived and had his body removed to his late residence. Cause of death was heart disease from which he had been suffering for some years. The funeral will be held Thursday a. m. in the Reformed Church.

In the baseball games Saturday Granite defeated Accord, and the married men defeated the single men. Gross proceeds of the Fourth of July celebration was about $95.

Mrs. John Silkworth is recovering from an attack of tonsillitis.

Mrs. A. DeWitt Schoonmaker does not improve in health very much. The new blacksmith, Mr. Damm, has arrived and started business in the Turner shop.

Boards are beginning to arrive at the Accord House.

One of the delegates to the recent state Sunday school convention at Binghamton will report to the Reformed Sunday school next Sunday, July 9.

The Misses Helen and Nellie Davenport and their brother, Edward, spent a few days visiting relatives in Newburgh recently.

Mrs. D. E. Schoonmaker returned to her home last week much improved in health.

Leo Gazley was attacked by a bull belonging to H. S. Devoe Friday and only the assistance of his brother, Carl, and of Mr. Devoe, saved him from serious injury.

Ray B. Walker and party of young men from Cottekill are camping on P. W. Gazley's farm along the Rondout creek.

HUERTA DELEGATES READY TO CONFER

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, July 7.—Waiting for word from the Argentine envoy in Washington, who is now bringing pressure to bear upon the Constitutionalists from every possible diplomatic source, the Huerta peace delegates in New York today, declared themselves still confident that a parley with the rebels would be had.

"We are staying here until Minister Naon sends us definite information, which we think will be favorable," said Senator Emilio Rabasa, head of the delegation. "We are concerned only with bringing about peace, and we rely upon the mediator who is in Washington and is in touch with the authorities there to notify us of the result of his work in that direction. We do not know directly as to the errand of Mr. Silliman, who has been sent to Saltillo. We believe that delegates will be sent here to discuss peace."

Others in the Mexican party stated that they relied upon the fact that Minister Naon now feels it incumbent upon him, as the spokesman of the mediators who took credit for proposing the direct negotiations between the Huerta and Carranza factions, to bring about this direct conference. His fellow mediators do not sympathize with his anxiety, believing that the parley will accomplish nothing.

Senator Rabasa had a conference last night with Manuel Esteve, the Mexican consul for New York. Esteve is understood to have reported upon the shipment of arms and other supplies by the revolutionist junta from this port.

While the Mexicans would make no comment upon the criticism of the American occupation of Vera Cruz attributed today to Ambassador D. Gama of Brazil, it was evident that they approved the sentiment. Given the port of Vera Cruz, men close in their confidence asserted, the Huerta government would take on a new lease of strength and the rebels would be compelled to talk peace.

Senadores Rabasa and Rodriguez are keeping in touch with developments in Mexico City through private as well as official dispatches, and because of the alarming nature of some of the press dispatches from their capital they have sent inquiries regarding the safety of relatives and friends.

Kodesto C. Roland, acting commercial agent for the Constitutional government here, had no word from General Carranza today on the possibility of peace conferences. Nevertheless, the impression prevailed at the agency that the "first chief" of the revolution would be willing to send representatives here to talk with the Huertistas.

"If they want to discuss terms of surrender, probably our government will be ready to make certain concessions," said a man in the consular building, who was in the confidence of the Carranza faction. What concessions would be offered, beyond guarantees of personal safety to the majority of the Huerta faction, the revolutionists would not suggest. They declared that the question of the confiscation of property held by the backers of General Huerta would be settled in due course and by "legal" methods.

Unofficial denial was given the reports from Huertista sources that a general massacre of prominent Huertistas was planned as soon as Mexico City should be taken. The agency declares that nothing is further from the minds of the Constitutional leaders.

"The best answer to such reports," they said "is the fact that at Torreón and Saltillo and Monterey there was no such execution of even the more prominent Huertistas."

As though to add to the discomfort of their enemies, the Constitutionalists today moved their agency from its uptown location to 17 Battery Place, the building in which the Mexican consul-general has his offices.

CHARITIES AID ACTS.

Resolutions on Death of Miss Forsyth Adopted at Meeting.

A special meeting of the Ulster County Branch of the State Charities Aid Association was held last night in the court house, at which there was a good attendance. Admiral Higginson presided. Plans for raising money to meet the needs of the association were discussed and it was decided to send out letters asking for subscriptions. It was also decided to publish a booklet telling of the work during the past two years.

Mrs. DeWitt Roosa read the following resolution, which was unanimously approved:

God, in his all wise providence having seen fit to remove from her broad field of usefulness our beloved member, Miss Mary Isabella Forsyth, Resolved, that in her death the Ulster County Branch of the State Charities Aid Association has sustained a great loss and it is but fitting that we express our appreciation of her noble character, and pay our tribute to her whose life was devoted to the welfare of others and the uplift of mankind. Her hand was always outstretched to aid the suffering and the needy and to uphold those who were cast down. Queen among women, and yet as guileless as a little child, she drew all hearts to her by her gentleness and sweetness of character and many will "rise up and call her blessed."

She was especially interested in the work of this society and a most valuable member. We shall miss her kindly face, and her wise counsel and advice.

Gifted with literary qualities of a high order, her pen was often busy and aided greatly in preserving the history and traditions of Ulster county.

Miss Mary Isabella Forsyth will long be missed from our society, but although her voice will no longer be heard among us and the grasp of her hand will be no longer felt, yet her name will ever remain on the records of our society as a symbol of earnest purpose, true sympathy and the real accomplishment of the objects for which we stand.

A true follower of her Lord Master, who she delighted to honor, may the mantle of her Christian spirit fall on us who remain, and prove an inspiration to us.

Resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, the daily press, and be embodied in the minutes of this society; also that a copy be sent to the State Charities Organization in New York city, of which this society is an auxiliary.

WARBURG WILL DECLINE.

Another New York Banker Will be Named in His Place.

By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Washington, July 7.—Paul M. Warburg of New York, practically has been eliminated as a member of the Federal Reserve Board. President Wilson had been advised unofficially that he will refuse to accept the place rather than submit to an examination by the senate committee on banking and currency. The White House has not heard from him directly, however, but expects to.

Warburg's stand that he did not solicit his appointment to the Federal Reserve Board and does not desire to be placed in the position of defending his banking career, is well understood in Washington.

President Wilson is reluctant to accept Warburg's declination, according to Secretary Tumulty. He is understood, however, to be ready to name another New Yorker to the place when Warburg makes public his attitude.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 7.—The list was stagnant at the opening of the stock market today. During the first half hour there was a mixed appearance to prices. Canadian Pacific, following its London lead, declined one point. Mexican Petroleum was prominent on account of its fiscal report for 1913 which was issued yesterday showing that the corporation sustained no losses on account of the revolution. Mexican Petroleum opened at 60 1/4 against 59 1/4 at the close last Friday. There were no transactions in the stock yesterday. Within a few minutes it was selling at 60 1/4. Western Union, Utah Copper, American Can, Chesapeake and Ohio, United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper, Union Pacific and Southern Railway, opened unchanged from last night. However, within a few minutes Steel, the Harrimans and Amalgamated Copper had sustained fractional losses. B. F. Goodrich advanced 1/4 and American Smelting and Ray Consolidated Copper were slightly higher. Reading, Rock Island, Chino Copper, New York Central and Atchafalpa were slightly lower. The curb was quiet. Americans in London were narrow.

Noon—Although a better tone was established in the late forenoon, there was no increase in the trading in leading issues, and fluctuations were generally confined within narrow range. Mexican Petroleum advanced another 2 points. Amalgamated Copper was off 1/4. Steel Company was off 1/4. Canadian Pacific advanced 1/4. Call money loaning at 2 percent.

2.30 p. m.—Buying increased in volume in the last hour and prices of many standard issues rose. Steel reached 62 1/4 against 61 1/4 at the opening. Amalgamated Copper sold up from 70 1/4 to 71 1/4. American Can held around 28 1/4 for a net gain of 1 1/4 on the day. Reading, Canadian Pacific and Union Pacific were fractionally higher. The tone was firm.

The stock market closed dull. Governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

NEWSPAPERS AND SPACE GRAFTERS

Merchants Often Held Up—New York Publisher Tells of Business Men's Association in His Town and How They Discourage Fake Ad Schemes.

Among several interesting papers read at the recent meeting of the New York State Press Association was that by William H. Clark, publisher of the Cortland Standard on "Protection Against Space Grafters and Advertising Blackmailers." Among other things, Mr. Clark told of the organization of business men of his city, every member of which has bound himself to refuse to patronize such advertising fakes as are regularly offered in almost every city. In describing the organization and the articles of agreement he said:

"The Cortland business men, like those of other places, very naturally talk over with each other the various troubles which beset them in serving the community in which they live. One of the greatest of those appeared to be that orders, organizations, and associations of all kinds—and occasionally even churches—whenever they had any 'doings' of any account by means of which they sought to raise money, got out a program or pamphlet or paper and struck the business men for advertisements in it at fat prices. The value of such so-called 'advertising' to those who went into it, in actual publicity and resultant returns, was not visible to the naked eye, nor could it be figured out on psychological principles, but one business man paid for it because others did and because he did not wish to appear mean or to incur enmity as a result of refusal. After one advertiser in any line of business had been secured, it was easy to go to his competitors and held them up on the plea that others were going in and that they couldn't afford to stay out.

"The business men also found that they were being too often worked by advertising fakers from out of town, who offered them an exclusive card or a seductive advertisement or wrote up in some hotel register or advertising directory or show program or souvenir or some other nothing-for-something, catch-penny scheme.

So they got together and adopted the following articles of organization, which they had printed on a large card and hung up in their business offices:

"Whereas, we the undersigned business men of the city of Cortland, are being continually solicited to patronize various advertising schemes, and to donate to organizations and objects within and without our city, and

"Whereas, these solicitations have become so numerous and continual that they are a great burden to each and every one of us,

"Now, therefore, we, the undersigned, do hereby make and constitute ourselves the Cortland Business Men's Association, and

"Be it further resolved, agreed and promised, by each and every one of us, that from this day we refuse all solicitations and requests of the following kinds: Trading stamps, programs, hotel registers, and, in fact, all advertising schemes except newspapers and the following periodicals: School Pennant and Normal News (purple magazines published by the state normal and Cortland high school), and individual advertising, and further, that we refuse to support, either with merchandise or money, except when duly authorized in writing by a committee of this association.

"And be it further agreed, resolved and promised, by each and every one of us, that from this day we refuse to sell to any solicitor for fairs, sales, lotteries or contests of any name or nature, any merchandise from our stocks for less than the wholesale price.

"The signers of this agreement and resolution pledge and bind themselves to mutually assist each other to carry out the purpose herein and to abide by the terms of this agreement; and that any member who shall violate this agreement shall be fined ten dollars ($10.00) for each violation thereof."

It would be difficult to estimate the amount of money and annoyance saved to the business men of Cortland by living up to these articles. It soon became known that further solicitation along the prohibited lines was useless and it stopped. It must be said with regret, however, that when one of the local theaters started an advertising program a number of the members of the Business Men's Association broke the rules and paid the $10 fine. It is difficult to see on what theory they figured out that the same advertisement, appearing in this program for a year without change, and read, if read at all, by theater-going people only—a fraction of the community—could possibly bring them any such results as an expenditure of the same amount of money in the newspapers of the city. Probably they didn't figure. None of them certainly would think of running an advertisement without change for a year in a newspaper.

One of the interesting features connected with the holding up of merchants for paid advertisements in these fly-by-night programs, etc., was that the parties conducting them expected the newspapers to write up and advertise the fairs, entertainments, etc., free of charge. Wise newspapers always put an end to graft of this kind by making a charge for all notices of entertainments, social and church affairs, where an admission fee is charged or money taken in.

It may be laid down as a truth of universal application that the advertiser, open or concealed, unconscious or self-confessed, who tries to get publicity or derive profit from a newspaper, under whatever guise or pretense, and in what manner so ever, without paying for it, is a space grafter. This characterization, of course, is not meant to apply to persons who kindly furnish those items of personal, social and local news in which readers are interested, which the newspapers are always glad to get, which they pay their reporters to collect and which parties concerned sometimes hesitate to furnish, though they ought not to. Next to the man who brings in a subscription or an advertisement, the most welcome caller at a newspaper office is he who contributes a good item or puts "the boys" next to a taking story.

It is unnecessary to differentiate or classify the space grafters. You all know them from the solemn professional gentleman who is alive to getting himself and his doings and sayings before the public free of charge, down to the poultry raiser whose hens are such wonderful layers, or the stock breeder or dairyman who sells thoroughbred heifer "Honeydew Grasshopper, Reg. No. 1,999,999" for a high price, and all the cows of whose dairy give down cream instead of milk, or the automobile maker who uses enough tires in a year to encircle the globe, or those who can handle a hundred miles on a gallon of gasoline, and use no oil at all, and all of whom want the newspapers to tell the public about it "as a matter of news"—to say nothing about the advertising.

Some of the professional gentlemen would be shocked to be asked, in return for the advertising they seek, or in recognition of it, or of other favors, to insert in the newspapers their business cards, giving their location, office hours, etc.—a very small contribution to the general uplift which is recognized as strictly ethical by both the legal and medical professions.

To do the clerical gentlemen justice, however, there is frequently a live wire among them who could run a newspaper or almost any other business without running it into the ground. Such clerical gentlemen know that the electric juice of spiritual as well as temporal affairs runs best along the cables of advertising. And they have absorbed and mentally digested the truth that the laborer is worthy of his hire, whether he labors on a newspaper or in a pulp or prayer meeting. They advertise religion according to modern methods—and great is their reward. There is a Methodist Church in the city of Norwich, in this state, population nearly 8,000, which had nearly 600 people out at a mid-week prayer meeting a few evenings since. And the spiritual shepherd of this good-sized flock buys his advertising and pays for it; and he gets scriptural measure—as one generally does who treats the newspapers on the square and is as willing to pay for his advertising as he is for his groceries.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, July 7.—The list was stagnant at the opening of the stock market today. During the first half hour there was a mixed appearance to prices. Canadian Pacific, following its London lead, declined one point. Mexican Petroleum was prominent on account of its fiscal report for 1913 which was issued yesterday showing that the corporation sustained no losses on account of the revolution. Mexican Petroleum opened at 60 1/2 against 59 1/4 at the close last Friday. There were no transactions in the stock yesterday. Within a few minutes it was selling at 60 1/2. Western Union, Utah Copper, American Can, Chesapeake and Ohio, United States Steel, Amalgamated Copper, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific opened unchanged from last night. However, within a few minutes Steel, the Harrimans and Amalgamated Copper had sustained fractional losses. B. F. Goodrich advanced 1/4 and American Smelting and Ray Consolidated Copper were slightly higher. Reading, Rock Island, Chino Copper, New York Central and Atchafalpa were slightly lower. The curb was quiet. Americans in London were not very active. Although a better tone was established in the late forenoon, there was no increase in the trading in leading issues, and fluctuations were generally confined within narrow range. Mexican Petroleum advanced another 2 points. Amalgamated Copper was off 1/4. Steel Common was off 1/4. Canadian Pacific advanced 1/4. Call money loaning at 2 per cent.

2.30 p. m.—Buying increased in volume in the last hour and prices of many standard issues rose. Steel reached 62 1/2 against 61 1/2 at the opening. Amalgamated Copper sold up from 70 1/4 to 71 1/4. American Can held around 28 1/4 for a net gain of 1 1/4 on the day. Reading, Canadian Pacific and Union Pacific were fractionally higher. The tone was firm.

The stock market closed dull. Governments unchanged; other bonds steady.

NEWSPAPERS AND SPACE GRAFTERS

Merchants Often Held Up—New York Publisher Tells of Business Men's Association in His Town and How They Discourage Fake Ad Schemes.

Among several interesting papers read at the recent meeting of the New York State Press Association was that by William H. Clark, publisher of the Cortland Standard on "Protection Against Space Grafters and Advertising Blackmailers." Among other things, Mr. Clark told of the organization of business men of his city, every member of which has bound himself to refuse to patronize such advertising fakes as are regularly offered in almost every city. In describing the organization and the articles of agreement he said:

Cortland business men, like those of other places, very naturally talk over with each other the various troubles which beset them in serving the community in which they live. One of the greatest of these appeared to be that orders, organizations, and associations of all kinds—and occasionally even churches—whenever they had any "doings" of any account by means of which they sought to raise money, got out a program or pamphlet or paper and struck the business men for advertisements in it at fat prices. The value of such so-called "advertising" to those who went into it, in actual publicity and resultant returns, was not visible to the naked eye, nor could it be figured out on psychological principles, but one business man paid for it because it appeared to him or to incur some other result of refusal. After one advertiser in any line of business had been secured, it was easy to go to his competitors and hold them up on the plea that others were going in and that they couldn't afford to stay out.

The business men also found that they were being too often worked by advertising fakes from out of town, who offered them an exclusive card or a seductive advertisement or write-up in some hotel register or advertising directory or show program or souvenir or some other nothing-for-something catch-penny scheme. So they got together and adopted the following articles of organization, which they had printed on a large card and hung up in their business offices:

"Whereas, we the undersigned business men of the city of Cortland, are being continually solicited to patronize various advertising schemes, and to donate to organizations and objects within and without our city, and

"Now, therefore, we, the undersigned, do hereby make and constitute ourselves the Cortland Business Men's Association, and

"Be it further resolved, agreed and promised, by each and every one of us, that from this day we refuse all solicitations and requests of the following kinds: Trading stamps, programs, hotel registers, and, in fact, all advertising schemes except newspapers and the following periodicals: Purple Pennant and Normal News (school magazines published by the state normal and Cortland high school), and individual advertising, and further, that we refuse to support, either with merchandise or money, except when duly authorized in writing by a committee of this association.

"And be it further agreed, resolved and promised by each and every one of us, that from this day we refuse to sell to any solicitor for fairs, sales, lotteries or contests of any name or nature, any merchandise from our stocks for less than the wholesale price.

"The signers of this agreement and resolution pledge and bind themselves to mutually assist each other to carry out the purpose herein and to abide by the terms of this agreement; and that any member who shall violate this agreement shall be fined ten dollars ($10.00) for each violation.

It would be difficult to estimate the amount of money and annoyance saved to the business men of Cortland by living up to these articles. It soon became known that further solicitation along the prohibited lines was useless and it stopped. It must be said with regret, however, that when one of the local theaters started an advertising program a number of the members of the Business Men's Association broke the rules and paid the $10 fine. It is difficult to see on what theory they figured out that the same advertisement, appearing in this program for a year without change, and read if read at all, by theater-going people only—a fraction of the community—could possibly bring them any such results as an expenditure of the same amount of money in the newspapers of the city. Probably they didn't figure. None of them certainly would think of running an advertisement without change for a year in a newspaper.

One of the interesting features connected with the holding up of merchants for paid advertisements in these fly-by-night programs, etc., was that the parties conducting them expected the newspapers to write up and advertise the fairs, entertainments, etc., free of charge. Wise newspapers always put an end to graft of this kind by making a charge for all notices of entertainments, social and church affairs, where an admission fee is charged or money taken in.

It may be laid down as a truth of universal application that the advertiser, open or concealed, unconscious or self-confessed, who tries to get publicity or derive profit from a newspaper, under whatever guise or pretense, and in what manner so ever, without paying for it is a space grafter. This characterization, of course, is not meant to apply to persons who kindly furnish those items of personal, social and local news in which readers are interested, which the newspapers are always glad to get, and which they pay their reporters to collect and which parties concerned sometimes hesitate to fur-

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTS REVIEW

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, July 7.—Everybody seems to be entered in the grand little guessing contest—"What's the matter with Walter Johnson?" And nearly everybody has a different hazard.

Some think that Walt has hit the chutes—that he ain't what he used to be as a pitcher, and that he'll never come back. They point out that Walt has been on the firing line for about eight years and doing so much firing that he's run out of ammunition—and that he's through.

Others think that Walt's just a bit worked out—that he's having an "off" year, as is the case with most ball players. They think that he'll come back next year with the same stuff as of old.

Another faction thinks that Walt is going to hook up with the Feds next year and that, on that account, he's quite indifferent about what he does this year. They point out that Walt has been promised a huge salary by the Feds next year, no matter what he does in the pitching line this year, and therefore, he's just taking things easy this year.

What's your guess? The contest is free.

Larry Cheney, of the Cubs, seems to be a curious mixture of control—and the lack of it. Larry has given more bases on balls than any pitcher in the National League, and has struck out more men than any of his rivals. How do you suppose it? When's he good, he's very, very good, and when he's bad he's awful.

Some of our best little golfing "experts" have just discovered the (to them) startling fact that Larry Vardon is one of the world's greatest golfers. If these fellows horned their way into baseball it's a cinch bet that before 1919 they'd come to the conclusion that Ty Cobb was a pretty good batter in his day.

Christy Mathewson, of the Giants, in addressing a crowd of schoolboys, said, in giving advice about the art of pitching:

"Don't be too anxious to throw a curve. Some of the best curve pitchers I have known were never able to make the big leagues. The reason was that they could never attain control. In pitching control is everything.

"Most young pitchers attempt a round arm delivery because it permits them to 'put more on the ball.' I would advise you to keep to a straight overhand delivery. Never mind if the opposing batters do make hits off you. It won't be long before you will have such control that you can place the ball where you want to and begin to outguess the batters."

"Dutch Uncle," writing in the Minneapolis Journal, rapped the nail on the top, when he penned the following, some days back, concerning the squabble between the Feds and Organized Baseball:

"The general public is going to see the winning teams or the ball teams showing a dash or the speed or the most class. The organized bosses need not think any one is going to follow organized teams out of sentiment, as it is a business and amusement proposition, and the crowd will go where the best show is offered. It is a fight wherein cash is fighting cash, with cash for the winner and no cash for the loser. No great or vital principles are involved. It is merely one set of professional athletes in competition for coin with another set equally ravenous.

"And in the meanwhile tennis, polo, golf, and the amateur sports are making tremendous inroads."

MENKE'S DAILY SPORTS REVIEW

(By Frank G. Menke.)

New York, July 7.—Everybody seems to be entered in the grand little guessing contest—"What's the matter with Walter Johnson?" And nearly everybody has a different hazard.

Some think that Walt has hit the chutes—that he ain't what he used to be as a pitcher, and that he'll never come back. They point out that Walt has been on the firing line for about eight years and doing so much firing that he's run out of ammunition—and that he's through.

Others think that Walt's just a bit worked out—that he's having an "off" year, as is the case with most ball players. They think that he'll come back next year with the same stuff as of old.

Another faction thinks that Walt is going to hook up with the Feds next year and that, on that account, he's quite indifferent about what he does this year. They point out that Walt has been promised a huge salary by the Feds next year, no matter what he does in the pitching line this year, and therefore, he's just taking things easy this year.

What's your guess? The contest is free.

Larry Cheney, of the Cubs, seems to be a curious mixture of control—and the lack of it. Larry has given more bases on balls than any pitcher in the National League, and has struck out more men than any of his rivals. How do you dope it? When's he good, he's very, very good, and when he's bad he's awful.

Some of our best little golfing "experts" have just discovered the (to them) startling fact that Larry Vardon is one of the world's greatest golfers. If these fellows horned their way into baseball it's a cinch bet that before 1919 they'd come to the conclusion that Ty Cobb was a pretty good batter in his day.

Christy Mathewson, of the Giants, in addressing a crowd of schoolboys, said, in giving advice about the art of pitching:

"Don't be anxious to throw a curve. Some of the best curve pitchers I have known were never able to make the big leagues. The reason was that they could never attain control. In pitching control is everything.

"Most young pitchers attempt a round arm delivery because it permits them to 'put more on the ball.' I would advise you to keep to a straight overhand delivery. Never mind if the opposing batters do make hits off you. It won't be long before you will have such control that you can place the ball where you want to and begin to outguess the batters."

"Dutch Uncle," writing in the Minneapolis Journal, rammed the nail on the top, when he penned the following, some days back, concerning the squabble between the Feds and Organized baseball:

"The general public is going to see the winning team or the losing team showing a dash or the speed or the most class. The organized bosses need not think any one is going to follow organized teams out of sentiment, as it is a business and amusement proposition, and the crowd will go where the best show is offered. It is a fight wherein cash is fighting cash, with cash for the winner and no cash for the loser. No great or vital principles are involved. It is merely one set of professional athletes in competition for coin with another set equally ravenous.

"And in the meanwhile tennis, polo, golf, and the amateur sports are making tremendous inroads."
